

MAKE SURE WIRELESS IS ON ...

Turn wireless on your PC. You may have a physical switch on your laptop. You should have a prompt in the bottom left of your screen that announces connections are available

In general, your laptop should present you with a list of wireless networks...

- In the residence halls: MSUB-dorm; dorm-guest
- Otherwise on campus: MSUB-mobile; MSUB-guest

The difference between the two is authentication. MSUB-dorm and MSUB-mobile require user authentication. Current students will authenticate with their NetID and their password. (These credentials are the same as for logging into D2L.)

If you do not know your NetID you can find it listed under your personal information tab of your myInfo profile. If you do not know your NetID password you can set it here: <http://password.msubillings.edu>

Guest networks do not require user authentication, but they do require you to accept the MSUB terms of use.
