

7TH ANNUAL AT-RISK CONFERENCE:

Autism

Teaching, Caring, Loving, Learning

Dr. Attwood Workshop

(July 21 only) $125

Parent of an Autistic Child Fee: $95

Two Day Conference Fee: $159

Parent of an Autistic Child Fee: $125

Lunch is included both days.

To register for the conference call

406-896-5890

One College Credit Fee $100

(pass/no pass)

To register for college credit go to www.msubillings.edu/onlineapplication

Please join us for an extraordinary 2 day conference on the MSUB Campus to continue our work for Montana children with Autism. This conference will provide rare access to two remarkable men who will provide insight from completely different perspectives that will take you inside the world of a person with autism. This conference is for everyone who loves and works with children with autism every day.

Day one will feature an all day workshop by Dr. Tony Attwood, internationally renowned expert on Aspergers Syndrome. Dr. Attwood is traveling to Montana from Australia to share his extensive knowledge.

Monday evening we are honored to share Special Guest Speaker Taylor Crowe. Taylor is a remarkable young man living with Autism. Taylor is an artist of exceptional talent and is able to articulate what it is like to be autistic in a way that will touch the hearts of everyone who has ever known a person with autism. Once you have met Taylor you will never forget him.

The second day of the conference will include a morning session featuring Taylor, his Dad David and his brother Adam who will share their unique perspective as a family living with Autism. The afternoon will include breakout sessions designed specifically for four tracks: Autism 101, Parents, Educators & Practitioners.

July 21 & 22, 2010 at MSUB

