PSYCHOLOGY

Overview of the Psychology program:

Psychology majors are well-prepared to work in mental health, research, and any field that involves human behavior – which includes most careers!

Many psychology majors go on to graduate school to become mental health professionals such as psychologists, addiction counselors, social workers, and correctional counselors.

Currently MSUB offers a BS and an MS in Psychology. We also offer a 3+2 Bachelor-Master track that saves you time and money when seeking a graduate degree.

Psychology majors take courses in Child Psychology, Clinical Psychology, Psychological Testing, Neuroscience, Forensic Psychology, among many others. They complete an internship and a senior thesis research project.

What makes your program unique?

Psychology has a highly employable professional track, that leads to careers such as therapist, counselor, and psychologist; and it is an ideal general-purpose degree, with applications to everything from law to data analysis to human resources.

What students like most about the Psychology program:

Students love learning about the brain, child development, psychological disorders, and how to “analyze” their friends and family!
