Federal Regulations require that students earn a degree within 1.5 times the published length of the credits required for the program. For example, if a degree requires 120 credits, a student is eligible for financial aid for a maximum of 180 attempted credits. If a student's total attempted credits exceed the maximum allowed for his/her program or if it becomes evident a student cannot earn his/her degree within the maximum credits allowed for his/her program, the student becomes ineligible for financial aid. Please note that a change of major does not reset the maximum timeframe.

INSTRUCTIONS

Please complete a Plan of Study with your advisor that includes every course required to earn your degree. The advisor's signature certifies that all the courses listed are required for the degree and, if successfully completed, will lead to graduation. Failure to follow the Plan of Study will affect your financial aid eligibility.
