

MSU BILLINGS LIBRARY LECTURE SERIES

What's Cooking?

EXPLORING AMERICAN FOOD, CULTURE, POLITICS, AND HISTORY
ON THE MENU

All lectures begin on Tuesday evenings at 6:30pm in MSU Billings Library Room 148.

All programs are free and open to the public. A light reception follows each lecture.

March 15, 2016

Dr. Sam Boerboom, MSU Billings Communication and Theatre Department

"Americans at the Table: The Political Language of Food"

March 22, 2016

Dr. Melissa Boehm, MSU Billings Communication and Theatre Department

"Pungent but Problematic: Media and Food Culture"

March 29, 2016

Dr. Matt Queen & Michele McMullen, R.D., MSU Billings Biological & Physical Sciences Department

"Culinary Chemistry: A Campus Cuisine Cookoff"

April 5, 2016

Seabring Davis, cookbook author, founding editor of Western Art & Architecture, former editor of Big Sky Journal

"Food Memories"

April 12, 2016

Reno Charette, MSUB Director of American Indian Outreach

"Native Foods"

April 19, 2016

Stella Fong, wine and food educator, writer, and community volunteer

"On the Menu: What Billings Restaurants Served in Years Gone By"

msubillings.edu/library

