

The Movin' On in Montana program is a high quality transition experience to post-secondary education for high school students with disabilities.

Transitioning from high school to either college or the workforce is an anxiety inducing time for the life of any student, especially one with disabilities.

Movin' On in Montana helps alleviate this anxiety by providing mentoring experiences between high school students with disabilities and current MSUB students who also have a disability.

"A mentor is someone who allows you to see the hope inside yourself."

E-Mentoring

Provides a mentoring relationship between high school students with disabilities and current MSUB students who also have a disability, via technology. Mentoring is delivered through monthly meetings, both through video conferencing and face-to-face seminars. The mentors address student concerns and offer guidance on how to successfully navigate the college experience.

Summer Camp

Participating high school students are encouraged to attend the four day event that will be partially staffed by the MSUB mentors. Students will live in the residential housing, eat in the cafeteria, attend classes on the MSUB and City College campuses, and tour three college campuses.

Books, fees, tuition, room, and board will be provided at no charge to students accepted into the program.
